Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 29 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Chilly, with overnight frost. Sunshine and showers Friday, cloudier later.

This Evening and Tonight:
Scattered showers will continue overnight, most frequently affecting coastal districts and areas exposed to the east. Intervening clearer skies will lead to another chilly night, with a widespread frost in rural areas. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Friday:
A day of sunshine and showers, although tending to become cloudier later. The showers will be heavy locally, wintry too on high ground. Rather cool throughout, despite light winds. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Staying similar into the weekend: sunshine and showers by day, but remaining rather cool with overnight frosts. Becoming less cold, but perhaps breezier Monday, with heavy rain arriving.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.